

Questions

1) Give an example of a language that is used for designing a web-application.

---

2) What is so special about Adobe Flash and Microsoft Silverlight?

---

3) Give an example of a server language.

---

4) In windows application development, there are two different areas. Name both of them.

---

5) What does .NET Framework consist of? (name two main components)

---

6) Why should we use CLS – common language specification in order to develop well-working windows applications?

---

---

7) Why is the .NET Framework so useful, even though applications that target CLR can be called – “applications for an operating system that does not exist”?

---